Navigating the Structure of Preptest 20

Preptest 20 comprises four logical reasoning sections, each consisting of 24 to 26 questions. These questions are designed to assess your ability to analyze arguments, identify flaws, draw inferences, and evaluate evidence.

The sections are typically arranged in order of difficulty, with the first section being the easiest and the fourth being the most challenging.

Delving into the Question Types

Preptest 20 encompasses a wide range of logical reasoning question types, including:

- Inference Questions: Determine s that can be reasonably drawn from the provided information.
- Flaw Questions: Identify weaknesses or flaws in the reasoning or argument presented.
- Assumption Questions: Uncover assumptions that are necessary for the argument to be valid.
- Strengthen Questions: Evaluate which answer choice would most effectively strengthen the argument.
- Weaken Questions: Determine which answer choice would most effectively weaken the argument.

Mastering the Art of Argument Analysis

The key to success in logical reasoning is the ability to analyze arguments effectively. This involves:

1. Identifying the : Determine the main claim or point that the argument is trying to make.
2. Analyzing the Evidence: Examine the reasons and evidence provided to support the .

3. Evaluating the Reasoning: Identify any flaws or weaknesses in the logic used to connect the evidence to the .

Strategies for Tackling Preptest 20

To conquer Preptest 20, consider implementing the following strategies:

- Time Management: Allocate a specific amount of time for each question and stick to it.
- Active Reading: Read each question and answer choice carefully, paying attention to key terms and concepts.
- Process of Elimination: Identify and eliminate answer choices that are clearly wrong before focusing on the remaining options.
- Logical Reasoning Diagrams: Create diagrams to represent the arguments and identify relationships between premises and s.
- Practice and Review: Engage in regular practice and thoroughly review your answers to identify areas for improvement.

Sample Question and Explanation

Question:

Some varieties of apples are not good for making apple cider. A particular variety of apple is not good for making apple cider. Therefore, that particular variety of apple must be one of the varieties not good for making apple cider.

Question Type: Inference

Explanation:

The argument presents a valid inference. The first premise states that some varieties of apples are not good for making apple cider. The second premise states that a particular variety of apple is not good for making apple cider. From these two premises, we can reasonably infer that the particular variety of apple must be one of the varieties not good for making apple cider.

LSAT Preptest 52: A Call to Action
